The ERMS and its effects

• The electronic records management system used is not sufficient in order to capture complete and persistent information about the authority's organization

• On the contrary, in the paper archives we find many traces about the organizational structure and its changes.
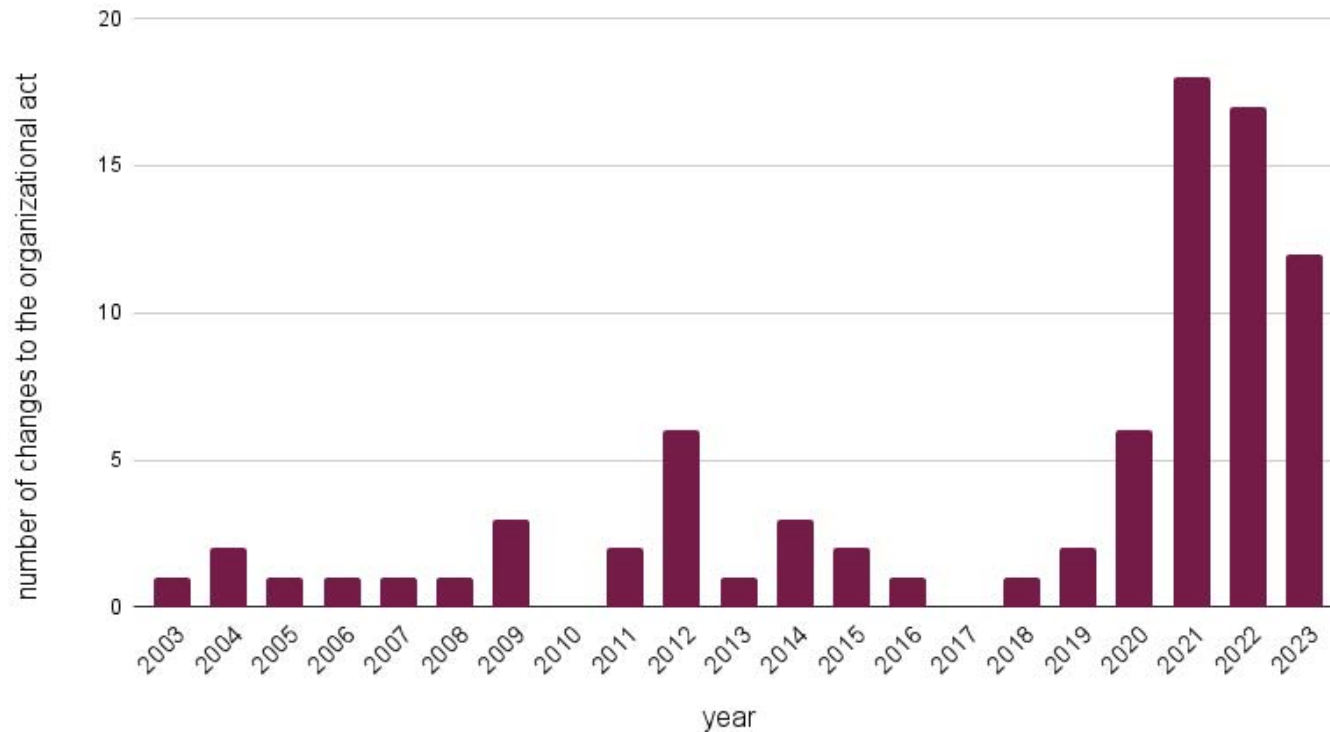

How can we improve more and more connected context information that allow us to create and keep a complete memory of the authority's activity?

Solution 1: agent's metadata

- The database which contains the provisions about the organizational changes could be used as a source of information.

- The information from this database could be linked as LOD (linked open data) in a specific metadata about the history of the agent.

Organizational changes

Changes to the organization of the Autonomous Province of Trento by year

Solution 2: database's long-term preservation

• There is another database connected to the ERMS (electronic records management system) which is full of information about important events of the authority life.

• It's important providing a long-term preservation of this database in order to join in the same preservation system records, documentary aggregations and information coming from db.

Thanks for the attention!
